

South West London
Academic, Health and Social Care
System

National Institute for Health Research

PhD Health Research Summer School 2017

Who can attend?

PhD students from south London* universities who are working in either applied or basic health research are invited to attend this event.

*King's College London, Kingston and St George's, University of London, University of Roehampton

Why attend?

The Summer School programme will address a range of topics including:

- communication and presentation skills
- negotiating the university and NHS environment
- how to build resilience.

There will also be opportunities to network with other students and academics and to share good working practices.

The event is free for students and fully funded by the sponsors: The South West London Academic and Social Care System and NIHR CLAHRC South London.

When:

Thursday 7 and Friday 8
September 2017

Where:

Goodenough College in central London, Mecklenburgh Square, London WC1N 2AB

For further information or to register your interest contact:

Dr Alice Simon

(programme leader – short courses)
or Krystal Rose

(section administrator)

on: clahrshortcourses@kcl.ac.uk
020 7848 0780.

What students of Health Research Summer School 2016 said:

'Fantastic opportunity, very useful information, exercises and networking.'

'It has helped me gain a better understanding about my thesis and career planning.'

'The atmosphere was amazing and it was a good opportunity to meet other PhD students and discuss and share experiences.'

Visit our websites

www.clahrc-southlondon.nihr.ac.uk

www.swlondonsystem.org

The South West London Academic Health and Social Care System (SWLS) is a membership network comprising the organisations which provide and commission health and social care for the 1.6 million residents of Croydon, Kingston, Merton, Richmond, Sutton and Wandsworth – together with the three universities of St George's, University of London, Kingston University London and University of Roehampton.

The Collaboration for Leadership in Applied Health Research and Care (CLAHRC) South London is a research network based at King's College London and St George's, University of London. It is funded by the NIHR to collaborate with local NHS trusts and the public in order to improve health services in London.